The enclosed map gives a general run down on most of our test targets. The large blue and red loops were the two special runs which we called the "grand tour". Cross hatching indicates configuration operation. The charts indicate our test capabilities rather than results because, for instance, on the blue circuit, cloud cover prohibited good results over Billings and Cheyenne.

We had configuration trouble over the Davis-Tucson area although this will be re-done on a special material flight.

If you could give a more specific target, we could come up with an exact "yes" or "no" on coverage.

As you appreciate major targets have been West Coast line, EAFB, metro L.A., San Diego and Bakersfield area.
